Atlanta, GA -- The StreetStage Atlanta Festival takes place in Downtown Atlanta, October 19 - 21.

- Festival hours Saturday October 20 and Sunday October 21 -- 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. in Woodruff Park
- Evening shows Friday, Saturday, and Sunday 8 p.m. in the Georgia-Pacific Auditorium, just steps from the park

Opening night -- Friday October 19, stars Avner Eisenberg (known for his “scene-stealing” title role in 20th Century Fox feature film, “Jewel of the Nile”) and guests in “Exceptions to Gravity,” Georgia-Pacific Auditorium, 8 p.m.

“If laughter really is the best medicine, Avner Eisenberg could easily cure everything that ails you. He’s a clown in the truest and best sense of the word. Wholesome family entertainment at its best; from the moment Avner takes the stage performing janitorial duties, laughter ensues. The Hall of Fame clown begins to do battle with some of life’s simplest tasks. Watching him struggle to put on his hat and sweep the floor is absolutely delightful. Avner juggles, plays baseball with an audience member, balances, mimes, and employs every magic trick in the book to the delight of the crowd. And if you’re an unfortunate late arrival, he’ll single you out and give you a wordless high-speed recap of everything you’ve missed. He shares popcorn with the crowd, makes a paper bouquet, and eats a dinner that’ll surely make you wonder how and why. The how of his magic is much harder to figure out than the why.

Avner has a warm, fatherly smile and a glimmer in his eyes that make you feel like he's performing especially for you. He clearly delights in what he's doing and revels in the enthusiasm his work receives, and does all of this without uttering a single word. You've got to see it to believe it can be this much fun."
